

Angels Domenech studied chemical engineering in Barcelona and polymer science at the University of Southern Mississippi. Subsequently she joined The Dow Chemical Company as a developmental engineer for Dow Plastics Europe within the films and fibers division covering food packaging applications and more indeed, stand up pouches market. As development engineer she developed innovative solutions to address market needs.

Dow combines the power of science and technology with the "Human Element" to passionately innovate what is essential to human progress. The Company connects chemistry and innovation with the principles of sustainability to help address many of the world's most challenging problems such as the need for clean water, renewable energy generation and conservation, and increasing agricultural productivity. Dow's diversified industry-leading portfolio of specialty chemical, advanced materials, agrosiences and plastics businesses delivers a broad range of technology-based products and solutions to customers in approximately 160 countries and in high growth sectors such as electronics, water, energy, coatings and agriculture.